A buyers guide to property auctions - How to buy at auction

The auction guide price, as the name suggests, is just a guide. In fact, it's often set low in the catalogue to entice bidders and the property could sell for 10% more or even higher. As the guide price on a property can be raised before the auction even starts, usually when it's generated a lot of interest, make sure you monitor it closely in the lead-up to the day.

Unlike estate agents who in the vast majority of cases simply quote an asking price, auctioneers quote a 'guide price' or a 'guide price range'. The key difference here is that whilst an estate agent's client is likely to accept an offer at the asking price and sell the property, in auctions the bidding may go well above the guide and reserve before being sold to the highest bidder.

Property Auction Guide Prices Explained

A Sellers Guide to Property Auctions. The property market has changed dramatically in recent years, gone are the days of an Estate Agent placing a For Sale Board at a property and waiting for their phone to ring.
